LETTER MAY END FIGHT FOR ESTATE

Epistle Written by Late Ross R. Winans to Son-in-law Expected to Stop Litigation.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Baltimore, Md., July 26.—The discovery of a letter from the late Ross R. Winans, a Baltimore millionaire, to Prince Henri de Bearn, his son-in-law, husband of the late Beatrice de Bearn, and present secretary of the French Legation at Peking, and for a time connected with the French Embassy at Washington, clearly indicating that he had no intention of cutting off his two grandchildren, despite the fact that they were not mentioned in his will, may put an end to the threatened litigation in the Winans estate of this city and elsewhere.

Winans was known by his friends to have loved his daughter extremely well, and it is said he had the tenderest feeling toward her two children, Gaston and Cecile de Bearn—despite the fact that no bequest was made to them. The prince was for a time connected with the French Embassy at Washington, but not accredited as a secretary or attaché. He was quite attentive to several of the well-known heiresses in Washington society, and was generally pronounced a charming man. He was a popular dinner guest, and for a time was much sought after. The Countess Olkylki, when she was Miss Eleanor Patterson, was one to whom he paid pronounced attentions.

Letter Shows Affection.

The letter in question, which is now held by a New York attorney representing the prince, reads as follows:

"I was glad to get the photographs of the children. I am astonished at their growth. Gaston is a fine fellow and Cecile is a beauty and very much like your mother. He is a popular dinner guest, and for a time was much sought after. The Countess Olkylki, when she was Miss Eleanor Patterson, was one to whom he paid pronounced attentions."

Was Kind: Gets $500,000.

Miss Dorothy Bateman, daughter of an innkeeper at Newport, R. I., who was kind to the Baltimore millionaire in Newport last summer, at about the time Winans wrote about his grandchildren, was left $500,000 under a provision of the will. The will did not mention the grandchildren.

An amicable settlement at this time will end a fight that has been going on in the courts for the last three years or so since the death of Beatrice Winans, wife of the Prince de Bearn.

Mr. Whistler, soon after the death of the millionaire, as well as Mr. Semmen, declared that the children would be cared for by the estate of the prince.

It seems that one of the last requests of Winans, the millionaire, was that his grandchildren be looked out for in a liberal way.

KISS, $100; WINK, $40;

"GOOD AFTERNOON," $50;

FINES FOR MASHERS

Chicago, July 26.—For a kiss, $100.

For a wink, $40.

For each additional wink, $5.

For covert glance, $10.

For ditto glance accompanied by a "good afternoon," $50.

With a schedule of almost prohibitive prices Judge Scully has started a real war on masherers in South Chicago. There doubtless are methods of flirting not in the schedule now, the judge explained, but they will be added as they come to his notice.

The schedule was prepared by Judge Scully after he had heard the evidence in the case of Michael Reinkoff, who, it was shown, gently clasp his thumb and forefinger just so—upon the left arm of Miss Therese Chemnax.

KINDLY ACT CAUSES TROUBLE.

Frederic F. Lewis Allowed Children to Ride in His Car.

New York, July 26.—Mrs. Lillian Lewis, who has sued for a separation from Frederic F. Lewis, vice president of the Knickerbocker Motor Company, charges him with being infatuated with a fifteen-year-old girl, and declares he has made threats against herself and her baby. It is declared that the little girl mentioned, who is a mere child, rode in Mr. Lewis' car to his office with four or five other children of about her age, and all the time she was there seven of the men employees were present and at work. Mr. Lewis was at his office attending to his duties, and his allowing the children to ride from his house to the office in his car was not an infrequent kindly act on his part. The time was about 9 o'clock.

FIREMEN ARE BURIED UNDER THOUSANDS OF BOTTLES OF CHAMPAGNE

Paris, July 26.—A brigadier of police and two other men are buried under the ruins of buildings on the Mercer champagne estate at Eprenay to-day as the result of a fire that raged at night and wiped out most of the buildings, destroying more than 500,000 bottles of champagne. A policeman and seven firemen were injured in the all-night fight against the flames. Gen. Beaumais, who was directing the fight, had a narrow escape from death when a roof collapsed over his head. The fire was not controlled until 2 o'clock this morning. The loss is over $1,000,000.

'Horse Trot' Takes Newport by Storm; 'Turkey Trot' Goes

Newport, R. I., July 26.—A new dance, said to be the legitimate successor to the famous "Turkey Trot," of San Francisco's Barbary Coast, has taken Newport by storm. It is called the "Horse Trot."

It was first introduced last night at a surprise dancing party, given in honor of Mrs. Sidney Jones Colford, by its originator, Uriel Davis, of Washington, and the young people who attended, after they had mastered the new creation, daily refused to dance anything else.

A number of well-known society people, including Mrs. Julian Little, M. and Mrs. Preston Gilman, and Mrs. Colford were particularly active in learning the new step and excelling their fellow-dancers in executing it.

BRIDE OF THREE WEEKS IN COURT FOR BEATING UP HUSBY, SAYS SHE IS BOSS

New York, July 26.—"You bet your life I'll be boss."

Mrs. Beale Schwartz, eighteen years old, of 42 Mercer Street, Brooklyn, a prepossessing bride of three weeks, flung this answer to her husband's complaint before Magistrate Hyman, in the Manhattan Avenue Police Court, Brooklyn, and stamped her foot when she said it.

John Schwartz, exhibiting a cut over the eye and one behind the ear, had his wife in court on a summons to show cause why she should not be charged with assaulting him.

"How old are you?" asked the magistrate.

"I'm twenty-two and she's eighteen," said Schwartz. "We've been married three weeks."

Schwartz said he just couldn't stand his wife's abuse. "She wants to be boss," he said.

"Yes, and you bet your life I'll be the boss," broke in Mrs. Schwartz. "I'll not take orders from you or any other man, so there."

GIRL SEWS BUTTON ON HER HAND AND DOCTOR REMOVES IT

Special to The Washington Herald.

Baltimore, Md., July 26.—Her right forefinger pierced and riveted through with a patent trousers button, Miss Hilda Lacks, sixteen years old, was removed to the Maryland University Hospital in the Central District ambulance this morning.

The girl was employed at Brent-Hunt Company's trousers factory, 36 West Baltimore Street, on a machine that pierces the button band of trousers and at the same time inserts and clinches a metal button thereon. Indirectly, Miss Lacks placed her right forefinger beneath the descending needle and jammer. The metal puncher and die came down with a thud and, with a scream, the girl saw that the button she had intended fastening upon the trousers had been tightly clinched through her finger, immediately in front of the first joint.

To release the button from her finger, Dr. William J. Coleman was obliged to use the knife, splitting the finger from the nail up and then making two deep cuts on both sides to release the shank of the button.

Miss Lacks was afterward removed to her home, 14 West Saratoga Street.

MISS MARY WOYTCH DROWNED IN SEVERN

Goes Beyond Depth While Bathing and Sinks Before Help Arrives.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Annapolis, Md., July 26.—Miss Mary Woytch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Woytch, of Woytch Station, on the Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis Electric Railroad, was drowned this afternoon off Horse Shoe Point on the Severn about three miles above Annapolis. Miss Woytch was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, of this city.

Miss Woytch had gone to the bathing shore, which is a part of the farm on the west bank of Weems Creek, owned by the Redemptorist Fathers of Annapolis, with her brother, Louis Woytch, and two girls, the Misses Beatie Brady and Katharine Kramer. One of the priests from Annapolis was also there.

The whole party were in bathing, and the young man, who was the only one who could swim, swam some distance from the shore, when Miss Brady and Miss Woytch began to call for help, having apparently got beyond their depth.

Miss Brady was brought into shallow water, largely through the efforts of the priest, but Miss Woytch sank. By this time her brother had reached a nearby point, and he made every effort, assisted by the others, to reach his sister. He was unable to do so, however, nor were any of the others who arrived later able to reach her, the body not being recovered for about three hours.
